According to the high quality and the excellent reputation, our event enjoys, we are particularly successful in attracting highly qualified experts and helpers.

As a supporter of the Chemnitz Linux Days, our sponsors have the opportunity to draw attention to themselves, to further increase their awareness, and to recruit new employees. This is also given in advance by naming the sponsors on our website and on printed advertising material. In addition, we have a job portal on our website, where we like to link job offers of our sponsors. On the event weekend, lectures and presentation stands allow direct contact with interested Linux users, potential customers or future employees. Valuable contacts can also be made at the weekend and enables companies to find cooperation partners.
